This book is dedicated to...

The superhero in every child!

Emma, in her superhero suit and red mask, flies over the city looking for signs of trouble.

In the distance, Emma spots a little boy with brown curly hair crying near a tall power pole. She lands next to him and asks what the problem is.

The boy sobs, "My new kitten climbed the power pole and can't get down!"

Emma dries the boy's tears and carefully flies up to the top of the pole. Emma speaks softly to Kitty Cat, the fluffy white kitten, as she gently scoops her up.

Emma flies down and hands Kitty Cat back to the happy little boy.

A crowd has gathered and cheers as Emma gives the happy boy his kitten.

Hearing about the rescue, the mayor steps forward and presents Emma with a key to the city.

Emma waves to the crowd, ready for her next adventure as the city's own superhero.

The End!
